

Projector Overview

“The Lighthouse”

They are referred to as the Lighthouse because of how they are able to guide people with their powerful light.

They are very observant and have the unique ability to see deeply into people.

Guides
Insightful
Wise

They often prefer to be one on one or a small group as opposed to being with a lot of people.

They move at their own pace and might find it hard to keep up in busy, fast-moving environments.

Projector Kids

They show signs of bitterness or rejection.

They get bossy
or controlling,
looking for recognition.

Clues your child is stuck.

They feel guilty for needing rest so they try to 'keep up', exhausting themselves in the process.

They feel
invisible or like
no one listens to them.

Projector Kids

They feel
recognized and
invited to share
their thoughts.

They naturally
offer useful
advice to their friends.

Clues your child is
on track.

They take breaks
when needed and
don't feel guilty
about it.

When they're invited
to share their
knowledge, they can
express their ideas
clearly and easily.

Projector Kids

When they're asked
to share their
thoughts first, they feel recognized.

They get tired a lot!
Their energy will ebb
and flow each day.
Support their need for rest when possible.

You might notice...

They're super efficient and can get a lot done in a short burst,
sometimes more than
others do all day!

There may be
times where they
prefer to be more
of an observer
than a participant.

Projector Kids

Can I help?

I'm SO tired.

You might
hear...

Why aren't they
listening to me?

*Let's try it
this way!*

Projector Kids

Tips to support your child.

Ask for their input!
Instead of waiting for them to speak up, ask what they think or how they feel.

Their perspective is unique. Recognize them for how they see, not just what they do.

They aren't lazy! They just don't have as much energy as other Types. Let them rest when they need to and trust they'll move at their own pace.

Recognition is essential. They thrive when someone notices their gifts, their perspective, or simply says, "I see you."